

Welcome to the launch of the OECD Territorial Review on the NSPA regions in northernmost Europe

The network for Northern Sparsely Populated Areas, NSPA, cordially invites to the official launch of the study on the NSPA, conducted by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, OECD. The unique study captures 14 regions in three countries, two within the EU and one in the EEA. Although there are great differences between the NSPA regions, there are also many issues and challenges in common and a need to gather critical mass for innovation. The report delivers analysis and recommendations for each region and primarily for the NSPA as a whole, but also at national and at EU level. This is to generate true adapted support for regional development in northernmost Europe, furthermore interlinked to a broader perspective on growth and innovation in less densely populated areas. The launch event will be followed by a reception.
