4. Eligibility criteria

The selection procedure is open to all candidates who, on the date set for the submission of applications, meet the following conditions:

- be a national of one of the Member States of the EU;
- enjoy full rights as a citizen and produce appropriate character references as to their suitability for the performance of the duties;
- have fulfilled any obligations imposed on him by the laws concerning military service;
- be below retirement age, which, for officials and other staff of the EU, is set at the end of the month in which the age of 66 is reached;
- be physically fit to perform the duties — to ascertain this the successful candidate will be examined by the CoR medical officer prior to any appointment;
- have a level of higher education corresponding to a complete cycle of university studies ending in a degree where the normal duration of these studies is four years or more, or a level of education corresponding to a complete cycle of university studies ending in a degree followed by relevant professional experience of at least one year where the normal duration of these studies is at least three years;

The need to recruit an official with the highest qualities of competence, performance and integrity must be balanced against the interests of the service, which require a candidate to be immediately operational and capable of communicating effectively within the institutions in the course of his/her everyday work in one of the languages most used by officials and other staff of the Union as an internal working language. The testing of candidates' linguistic knowledge during the recruitment procedure is thus a proportionate means of verifying that they possess the highest qualities for performing the duties of Director in the CoR's and EESC's working environment. A candidate having one of the above-mentioned languages as his/her main language will also be called on during the interview to express him/herself satisfactorily in an official language other than his/her main language.

In addition, the ability to communicate effectively in other official languages of the European Union is an advantage; compliance with the requirements in terms of linguistic knowledge must be mentioned in the declaration in good faith (see point 7.1 and Annex I) and will be evaluated during the interview (see point (6)).

5. Initial eligibility screening and pre-selection

5.1. The initial eligibility screening consists in an analysis, by the selection panel, of each file submitted to this vacancy notice in order to verify the compliance with the eligibility criteria set under point 4. The selection panel is assisted by the general secretariat.

6. Selection criteria

The selection will be carried out by means of an interview, during which the selection panel (see point 7.3.2) will pose to each candidate a number of similar questions in order to perform a comparative evaluation of the candidates being considered at this stage.

In order to grant the highest degree of diversity of senior managers, in case of equal merit of several candidates applying under the same category (art. 29§ 1a), b) or 29§ 2 by descending order of priority), preference will be given to female candidates or to candidates likely to increase the geographical diversity among CoR senior managers.

7. Progress of the procedure

7.1. Submission of application files

The application files must be submitted solely via electronic means in pdf format not larger than 10 MB to the following address: Director-IIT@cor.europa.eu

Candidates with a disability preventing them from presenting their application online may send their application by registered and recorded delivery to the address: Comité européen des régions, à l'attention du chef de l'unité Recrutement et carrière, rue Belliard/Belliardstraat 101, 1040 Bruxelles/Brussel, BELGIQUE/BELGIË, marked 'Confidentiel — avis de vacance — à ne pas ouvrir par le service courrier', by the deadline mentioned in point 7.2 at the latest, with the postmark constituting proof of date. In this case, the candidates must attach a certificate issued by an authorised body to their application, recognising their status as a disabled person. They are also invited to indicate, in writing, any requirement which they consider necessary to facilitate their participation in the recruitment procedure. Any further communication between the CoR and these candidates will be carried out by post. The CoR reserves the right to ask for clarifications on the supporting documents requested below.

The application file must mention the reference of the vacancy notice (COR/AD 14/30 BIS/22) in the heading and contain:

- a cover letter (maximum 5 pages) in English or French, dated and signed, which should state the candidate's interest to assume the duties of Director for Innovation and Information Technology and his/her understanding of the future challenges that the Directorate will face, as set out in their cover letter, and his/her ideas about how to face these challenges;
- an up-to-date curriculum vitae (Europass format);

- a copy of the supporting proofs of professional experience enabling the candidate's experience to be verified, in accordance with the conditions set out in point 4;
- the Annex III, dated and signed.

The respect of the eligibility criteria set out in point 4 will be checked solely on the basis of the information provided in the supporting documents. Information only provided in the CV or in the cover letter without being backed by supporting documents will not be taken into account.

With regard to the professional experience required under point 4, copies of proofs of professional experience must be provided showing the content of the duties, the duration for which the posts were held and the level of responsibility.

The verification of the respect of eligibility criteria regarding the linguistic knowledge required will be based on the declaration in good faith; the level of linguistic skills will be tested during the selection interview (see point 6 of the vacancy notice).

The pre-selection of the eligible candidates will be based on criteria set out in point 5.2. The candidates are invited to highlight in their CV and cover letter each relevant aspect of their professional experience enabling the selection panel to assess the degree of correspondence with the requirements of this vacancy notice.

When preparing the application file, it is not necessary for the copies to be certified as conforming to the original.

Incomplete application files and files submitted after the expiry of the submission deadline or failing to observe the provisions governing the submission of application files will not be considered. Any false declaration will automatically cause the application to become null and void.

Candidates are informed that they are not allowed to contact personally members of the selection panel or ask CoR members/alternates to do so and that doing so constitutes grounds for disqualification from the procedure.

7.2. Deadline for the submission of application files: 14 October 2022 at noon (Brussels time)

The candidates will receive an acknowledgment of receipt of their application file by email. Application files arriving by registered post in accordance with point 7.1 will be acknowledged by post.

7.3. Scrutiny of the application files: initial eligibility screening, pre-selection and selection

7.3.1. Based on a preparatory analysis carried out by the general secretariat, a selection panel will assess the eligibility of the candidates having submitted their applications within the deadline on the basis of the supporting documents requested under point 7.1.

7.3.2. The selection panel will consist of the CoR President, the first CoR vice-president and the chairs of the six political groups (or their representatives) in the CoR. The CoR Secretary-General will be involved at all stages of the selection process in order to provide the selection panel with administrative and legal support. During the initial eligibility screening and preselection, the EESC Secretary-General or his representative will also be involved in the proceedings of the panel.

7.3.3. The selection panel will first verify that the eligibility conditions are met on the basis of the declaration in good faith, the cover letter, the CV and the copies of documents listed in point 7.1 of this vacancy notice. The conditions of eligibility which are checked at this stage of the procedure are listed in point 4.

The candidates whose applications are assessed to be non-eligible will be informed thereof.

7.3.4. The applications admitted at the end of the stage described in the point above will then be subject to a pre-selection process by the selection panel assisted by the Secretary-General. This will be done on the basis of the application file. The names of the candidates who best meet the criteria established in point 5.2 of this vacancy notice will be compiled in a shortlist list consisting of a maximum of seven names.

With a view to this pre-selection based on the files, the candidates are invited to highlight in their cover letter those aspects of their CV which correspond to the duties involved, their motivation and their views on the future challenges facing the Directorate for Innovation and Information Technology.

7.3.5. The shortlisted candidates will then be invited to an assessment in an 'assessment centre', for which the programme and methodology will be communicated in good time. This assessment will evaluate the managerial skills of the candidates (information management, tasks, people, interpersonal relations and the ability to achieve objectives). This constitutes a non-binding opinion made available to the selection panel in view of the selection interview.

7.3.6. Following the assessment centre, the same shortlisted candidates will be invited to an interview with the selection panel in line with the provisions of point 6. During this process, the Secretary-General will assist the selection panel and present the results of the assessment centre.

Following the interview, the selection panel will decide which candidate is deemed most suitable to assume the duties of Director for Innovation and Information Technology. This candidate will then be proposed by the Secretary-General to the Bureau, which can invite the proposed candidate for a hearing.

The candidates who are not proposed for appointment will be informed thereof at the end of the procedure.

In accordance with the CoR's Rules of Procedure, the appointment of any official in a grade higher than AD 12 depends on a favourable vote from the Bureau. In the event of a favourable vote, the Bureau will instruct the CoR President to sign the decision covering the appointment of the chosen candidate. In case the vote from the Bureau is not favourable, the procedure is closed without appointment of any candidate.

In the framework of this vacancy notice, the Appointing Authority will examine the possibilities of filling the vacant post in accordance with the order set out in Article 29 of the Staff Regulations: the examination of applications presented under Article 29(1)(a) (post to be filled by transfer, by appointment or by promotion), then Article 29(1)(b) (transfer between institutions), and finally, Article 29(2). This order will be observed at each of the stages set out above.

The request must be made by email (Director-IIT@cor.europa.eu) within 5 working days from the date when the decision is notified to the candidate by email.
