Network of Regional Hubs for EU Policy Implementation Review

RegHub

A New Way of Working

Why RegHub?

Most EU policies are implemented at local and regional level. As a result, the experience of regional and local authorities in applying EU policies is of unique value, especially since it is gathered in close coordination with local stakeholders, including businesses, social partners, civil society and citizens. Channeling their first-hand knowledge is therefore a crucial element for EU policy making.

RegHub is a network of 36 regional hubs that will test the method for implementation reporting on a selected number of EU policies. This will strengthen the role of the CoR in monitoring the implementation of EU policies, and will thus reinforce the work of the CoR Subsidiarity Monitoring Network.

Main objectives

RegHub

- provides feedback on the implementation of EU policies at local and regional level.
- ensures a better involvement of local and regional actors at an early stage in the EU policy making.
- focuses on improving existing EU policies and their implementation at local and regional level.
- promotes simplification and interregional learning in implementing and further developing EU policies.

The Regional Hubs

- act as contact points for relevant institutions and organisations who are involved in the implementation of EU policies.
- provide feedback on the implementation of EU policies at local and regional level.
